a Yes, you're right, but did you know it was a fictionalised account ?	1 Yes, I know, I was almost crying; and the plot is fascinating.
b No? What's the problem with it?	2 FINISH Yeah, who are you calling bookworm ?
c That's the new one by A.J. Wolf, isn't it? You're not hooked on it then?	3 Absolutely, I couldn't put it down! And it really comes alive towards the end.
d START I'm reading Orange Pants by C.S. Murphy at the moment. It's very readable , don't you think?	4 For starters, some of the characters are a bit one-dimensional and it's so slow . I don't rate Wolf very much as an author.
e You have to be in this job! So, see you later, bookworm .	5 Yes, but anything that depicts the rich behaving like animals will sell.
f That's strange. He's written some critically acclaimed best-sellers .	6 Let's hope so, I've got three books to finish this week. Luckily I'm an avid reader .
g That's true. Anyway, what's next on your list? Something more gripping perhaps?	7 Not at all. It's not what I'd call a page-turner .
h Oh no! Don't tell me what happens at the end! It's such an incredibly moving story, isn't it?	8 Really? I thought it was based on a true story . At any rate, it's much better than Legless in Suburbia .
