

7.3. VIDEO

TAKING BACK KASUNGU

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gNohgx1hvcM#action=share>

In this short video produced by IFAW, Mike Labuschagne, IFAW's Law Enforcement Manager, in Kasungu National Park, Malawi, discusses his motivation behind protecting elephants in the region.

*He raises the problem of the loss of the value of animals.

Questions:

- 1) What is Mike Labuschagne?
- 2) What is Mike Labuschagne motivated by?
- 3) What is said about the level of animals in Malawi's National Parks and reserves?
- 4) What is the area of Kasungu National Park?
- 5) Why are the animals compressed into a tiny part of habitat?
- 6) What is said about *elephants' declining?
*buffalos' declining?
*zebras' declining?
- 7) Why is the loss of value of animals quite staggering for Malawi?
- 8) What is the correct response to animal abuse in Malawi?
- 9) What problem with forest rangers does he mention?
- 10) How many officers are needed in the Park according to Mike?
- 11) Enumerate the problems he has to solve working with the staff?
12. How many days of training do they have to undergo before they are certified?
13. What for do they set up barracks?
14. What happens if a poacher kills an elephant in Kasungu National Park?
15. What do they do if the poacher leaves the territory of the Park?
16. What does Kasungu National Park border on?
17. What do they do to combat criminals on both sides of the border?
18. When did they start their work in Kasungu National Park? What were their first results?
19. What is said about jail sentences handed down in a court of law?
20. Why do they stay in Africa without running water and electricity?
21. What is Mike's mission do you think?
22. What do you think of the project? Give reasons.